CHAPTER ONE – Tell Me Devil

Tell me Devil. Is it true that all of the beautiful are your favorite and do the ugly have nothing because the handsome took everything? Why is it that God allows this? God should love the ugly more. Why is it that God allows this injustice?

Tell me Devil, What happened to God? Was he drunk? Eating at your table? Devil, with your sauce. Did you give it to God on the nachos? Tell me Devil about the nachos. Did God eat with his fingers and then rub his eyes? You bastard! Devil, the sauce. Hot sauce! This is why God cannot see the injustice. Injustice! Devil! Devil!

Goodbye Devil. Now you've done it! Grab your nachos and go far away. Devil, take your nachos and leave while you can. All of the ugly... All of the ugly... All of the ugly... All of the ugly are here with me. We give you the finger. All of the ugly are here. Go away! Go away Devil! Go away! Go away Devil! Go away! Get out!

CHAPTER TWO – The Headphones Of The Devil

The song was sweet. The song was danceable and God listened on the headphones of the Devil.

The Devil likes music and he likes laughing at the poor. While he is laughing, he writes songs. Songs. One day the Devil asked God, "Listen to my new song". God said yes because God is kind. God is kind. You see, God gave us all the desire to sing but not the voice. God gave us all the desire to play but not the fingers. That's why the least that God could do is listen, but the Devil can sing. The Devil can play and God listened on the headphones of the Devil. The song was sweet. The song was danceable and God listened on the headphones of the Devil.

When the song was done, God smiled. God smiled. The Devil could write beautiful songs. Beautiful songs. The melody was stuck inside the head of God. God wanted to hear more beauty. The Devil was pleased. Who wouldn't be happy after someone likes your song? So the Devil said to God, "My headphones, take them. Listen all you like.

Listen all you like. It makes me happy that you like my song. My song!” The Devil can sing. The Devil can play and God listened on headphones with noise cancelation. Noise Cancelation! This is why God cannot hear the cries of the poor nor the laughter of the Devil.

CHAPTER THREE – See No Evil – Hear No Evil

See no evil. Hear no evil. See no evil. Listen!

CHAPTER FOUR – Speak No Evil

The Devil wants God to answer your prayers. It’s true. He wants this. It’s true. Because if God answers your prayers he will have to tell you about the Devil, of his sauce and the nachos.

They say the truth can set us free but setting free the truth is another matter. God knows this. What will God do? Because if God speaks with his children he will have to tell them about the Devil, his songs and headphones.

They say the truth can set us free but setting free the truth is another matter. Because when saying the truth, God will have to say the name of the Devil and that will never do.

God cannot tell his children that evil exists. God cannot tell his children he does not have all the answers. In his silence, God depends on love.

The Devil was angry. He asked God, “Why do you not talk to your children?” God answered, “Love speaks for me. It whispers louder than your hate can scream”. Then God raised his hand to cover his mouth and with the other hand showed the Devil a sign with one finger. They say the truth can set us free but when setting free the truth God will have to speak the name of the Devil. That’s why God speaks through love and God speaks through beauty and the things that cannot lie and the things we can only feel. And with the Devil, God uses sign language.

With God we give him the finger. Go away! Go away Devil!. With God we give him the finger.
